Professional Summary

I am Raneem Muslih, (Between the skies of airports and the realm of law), I am a Law graduate from Taif University with a strong foundation in Saudi legal systems and a passion for the legal profession, currently working at the airport, which has strengthened my interest in the aviation industry and its regulatory environment. I am particularly interested in the intersection of law and aviation and eager to develop my career within this field. I have solid experience in legal research, especially in criminal law, alongside exposure to other legal areas, and I am adaptable, curious, and able to perform effectively in diverse roles. With excellent English proficiency and strong communication skills, I am seeking to join an aviation training program leading to employment, where I can further develop my legal and industry-related expertise and contribute effectively in a professional environment. I also hold multiple academic recommendations reflecting my competence and dedication.
